The NHS Education Scotland Practice Education team has a key workstream which supports AHPs in Scotland develop and embed quality supervision practice. Until last year, skills sessions were delivered in local board areas. We have been testing national delivery of the sessions offering a sustainable delivery model and more flexibility in terms of access. These sessions are evaluating extremely well and we are offering further dates to support demand.

The sessions content remains unchanged, and the learning outcomes are as follows:

By the end of the workshop, you will be able to:

- identify the key skills to help facilitate a support and supervision session
- have had the opportunity to practice using key skills of support and supervision
